ELECTION AND TRAVERSE

HONORABLE SIR:

Responsive to the official communication of October 15, 2002, Applicant submits the following Election and Traverse.

It is not believed that extensions of time are required beyond those, which may otherwise be provided for in documents accompanying this Amendment. However, in the event that additional extensions of time are necessary to prevent abandonment of this application, then such extensions of time are hereby petitioned for under 37 C.F.R. § 1.136(a), and any fees required therefore are hereby authorized to be charged to our Deposit Account 08-3460.

Election Requirements Under MPEP § 806.05

Applicant hereby elects group one, claims 1-18 and 25-43 for further prosecution in the currently pending application, with traverse.

Species Restriction Under 35 USC § 121

Applicant respectfully traverses. With regard to the species restriction, Claim 1 is clearly generic. Claim 1 has two limitations: a flexible supporting element and a driving means.

"Driving means" clearly applies generically to both "a traction driven lumbar support" and "and electric motor driven lumbar support." A "flexible supporting element" clearly applies generically to both a push paddle lumbar support and a flexible wire mat lumbar support. Claim 1 clearly covers cycling lumbar support with or without a polarity switch. Driven, flexible lumbar supports characterized in the Office Action as subgroups A-F, are all covered by generic claim 1.

Election

With the above stated traverse, applicant elects "subgroup A." The claims corresponding to subgroup A include claims 1-11, 14-18, 25-35 and 38-43.

It is respectfully pointed out to the Examiner that traction driven lumbar supports commonly have the traction applied to them through a Bowden cable which is powered by an electric motor. As is supported on page 6 of the specification, and immediately clear to those who are skilled in the art from figures 1 and 2, positioning assembly 20 is a Bowden cable, i.e. a coaxial traction cable. It is engaged with the flexible support element 27 on one end and engaged with an electric motor 22 for powering movement of the Bowden cable wire coaxially through the Bowden cable sleeve by movement of the actuating assembly 24. See, application, page 6. Accordingly, the above delineated claims which include limitations to both traction type supports and electric motors, may consistently represent a single species of both for continuing prosecution under the election described above. More clearly, however, the specification, drawings and claims all illustrate that a distinction between "subgroup A and subgroup B" is an inappropriate and artificial designation of species. Accordingly, applicant traverses the first grouping in paragraph 7 of the Office Action, while electing "subgroup A", with traverse, in order to comply with the requirements of the Office Action.

Respectfully submitted,
